Teri Stratton is a managing director in the Los Angeles office of Piper Jaffray.

Prior to joining Piper Jaffray, Stratton was at Macquarie Capital Advisors (and predecessor firms) where she spent 10 years focused on providing capital markets, mergers and acquisitions, and restructuring advisory services to middle market companies across many industries. Her recent industry focus has been retail & consumer products (RCP) as well as building products. Within RCP, she has been concentrating on food and agriculture, including dairies. Prior to her investment banking career, she had eight years experience in corporate banking, serving in both credit administration and special assets.

Stratton received a bachelor's degree in economics from the University of California at Los Angeles, and a Masters of Business Administration degree in finance with honors, from The Anderson School at UCLA. She is a Certified Insolvency and Restructuring Advisor, a board member of the Association of Insolvency and Restructuring Advisors, and a member of the Turnaround Management Association and ABI.
