

Scott Cockerham

Huron Biography

Scott Cockerham is a Senior Director in Huron's Houston office and leads the energy investment banking practice of its broker dealer, Huron Transaction Advisory. He has served in numerous investment banking and financial advisory roles across special situation engagements in all three streams, both onshore and offshore. Scott has served as a subject matter expert in a number of energy bankruptcies, including American Eagle, Energy XXI, and CHC Helicopter. He has also performed regular way energy capital raises, mergers and acquisitions, and acquisitions and divestitures. He holds a Certification in Distressed Business Valuations in addition to multiple FINRA series licenses and has worked at Parkman Whaling LLC, Goldman Sachs, and Deutsche Bank AG. Scott began his career as an officer in the United States Marine Corps and earned a BS with Honors from the United States Naval Academy and an MBA from the Ross School of Business at the University of Michigan.