

Andrew Kramer

UBS Investment Bank

Andy is a Managing Director in the Debt Advisory and Restructuring group of UBS. He re-joined UBS in August 2018. He was previously a Managing Director at the firm from 2002 to 2009. Andy has advised a variety of stakeholders in restructuring and capital markets transactions, including companies, creditors, and equity constituents. His experience includes engagements across a wide range of industries, including energy, power, healthcare, media, technology, gaming & leisure, and general industrial concerns.

Prior to joining UBS, Andy was Managing Director in the Restructuring & Capital Advisory group at Greenhill & Co., LLC in New York. He worked within the Leverage Finance and Restructuring Group at Credit Suisse, and he began his investment banking career at Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette. Andy has a MBA from Columbia Business School and a BA in economics from Brown University.